

FIFTY CENTS

A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month—a few drops in its bottle each time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return of health and comfort.

Babies that are given Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful action. It seems to contain just the elements of nourishment a baby needs most.

Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment; Scott's Emulsion always supplies it.

We'll send you a sample free upon request.

"I had trouble with my bowels which made my blood impure. My face was covered with pimples which no external remedy could remove. THIS TIME WILL COME

When the Advice of This Pendleton Resident Will Help You.

Very few people are entirely free from backache. It does not take much to derange the kidneys. A little cold, a strain, stooping positions or hard work overtax those delicate organs and many aches and pains promptly follow. A Pendleton citizen tells you here how every kidney ail can be relieved and cured. Read about it:

H. A. Thompson, retired, who lives on Stonehill-Jackson street, says: "My kidneys troubled me by spells for 10 years and at such times with a steady, dull aching across my back. I used large quantities of various kinds of medicine said to be good for it. Finally I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at the Brock & McComas Co. drug store and I found them to be just what I needed. They went right to the spot and not only relieved my backache, but cured it permanently. I will be only too pleased to tell other about the merits of this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milham Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

CUT OFF THE QUEUE

CHINA WILL ORDER A CHANGE IN OLD CUSTOM.

San Francisco Chinamen Are in Consternation Over the Prospect of Losing Their Pigtail—Custom of Wearing Queues Was Only Recently Abandoned by the Japanese and Was the Sign of Certain Progress—Custom is 4000 Years Old With the Chinese.

San Francisco, Oct. 20.—According to the Chinese papers for the last four days, in another year the queue or "pigtail" will be a buried relic, or perhaps a relic in museums.

Chattering groups of Celestials stand on the corners in Chinatown and discuss the possibility of the enforcement of a new imperial mandate which will compel them to doff the braided and glossy string of hair that wanders from their occipital process downward past their girths and embellishes the rear part of their make-up.

The local Chinese papers have it that the new order is being considered seriously by the head of the Chinese government and that before long queues will not be worn. It is but a few years since the Japanese were adorned with queues, and the doffing of them was considered a mark of advancing civilization. The emperor has decided that his subjects would look more civilized without the "pigtail."

Great excitement is on in the Chinese quarter, and much protest is already being voiced against the proposed order. Another question that is causing much talk is the ultimate disposal of 30,000 castoff dermal appendages when the order becomes a law. They might be buried or made into hair mattresses. The latter course seems improbable on account of the harshness of the Chinese hair.

The Chinese papers say that inside of six months the queue will be but a memory, and the years of careful growth and treasure will have gone to naught. The Chinese barber will include hair cutting in his price list, and reap a harvest from the owners of divested "pigtails," and the queue, for centuries the distinguishing mark of the Oriental race, will be sold over the counter in curiosity shops and guarded in museums.

Many years hence when scientists are excavating that portion of land on which Chinatown now rests they may unearth questionable pieces of hairy rope, and treasure them as mementoes of a long extinct race.

The custom of wearing the queue is said to be 4000 years old and is thought to be the only custom followed for that length of time by any people on earth.

The older Chinese believe they must have a queue when they die or that they will be denied admission into their heaven, hence their excitement may be imagined.
